

The title of the book is The Grasshopper & the Ants. The author is Jerry Pinkney. This book is a fiction. The characters are grasshopper, ants and queen. The setting is ant colony.

In the story the grasshopper did not want to work. He only wanted to have fun. The queen ant warned him that he needs to work hard to store food for winter. The grasshopper ignored her and made fun of her. Then the winter came and grasshopper had no food. He was cold and hungry. The grasshopper came to ants and asked for food and shelter. The ant queen gave him food and let him stay. The grasshopper realized his mistake.

I like the book because the story teaches us to work first and then have fun. I also like the wise and kind queen.
